THE WOMAN OF IT

BY MARGUERITE MOORE MARSHALL

What Is Your Baby Worth?

"NIGHT GUARD for a $2,000,000 Baby," ran a recent news headline over the story of the attempted kidnapping of two-year-old James S. McCarthy Jr. of Durin, Conn., who is heir to the income from $2,000,000 left by his mother. So this small Jimmie is legally worth $2,000,000. But aren't there ever so many other babies worth just as much—if you ask their mothers?

One $2,000,000 baby, we are perfectly certain, is Mildred-Across-the-Boardwalk. Even as a neighbor she seems to us a priceless infant. She almost never cries—and that makes her a valuable young person at a beach where our windows and doors stand wide open practically all the time to let in sunlight and salt wind and sight of the curving blue glory just the other side of the bulk-head.

Not that Mildred carries placidity to the point of being phlegmatic. She is, in fact, a most adventurous young person. One grandfather was a whaling captain, the other commanded almost the last of the old merchant clipper sailing to mahogany from South America to Scandinavian ports. Mildred clearly inherits the courage of her forebears and their inability to stay still. She is barely nine months old, yet she rocks her high chair from side to side, she stands erect with one dimpled hand just resting on the side of her little wooden pen, she even takes brave short steps along the pen's sides, assisted only a trifle by the balancing small feet. We're not learned in baby lore, but those who are wiser than we say that Mildred will be walking before another month is up and doing it at an unprecedentedly early age.

With mercy's tender grace.

Else how could he have soothed my grief
Until his scar became a flower,
A fragile thing of loveliness
To cherish hour by hour.

None else could so have comforted,
Or dulled the aching edge of pain;
I shall not think hard things, nor say
Time's hands are harsh and vain.

Instead, I dream of his kind face
Alight with understanding eyes,
Of his soft hands whose gentle touch
Makes foolish children wise.

We Were Brought Up in the Country!
That trooper in Putnam County who ordered young women summer residents to go home and put on stockings in order not to "shock the populace with their immodest dress" didn't know his populace. If we're any judge, Putnam folk are getting their summer kick out of scouting for the stockingless shins of the "city gals."

THOSE ADULT NURSERY RHYMES

"I remember the following, which I learned twenty years ago, while completely forgetting such important items as where I packed the summer curtains a few months back," writes M. D. F.:
Willie went to see the stockyards—
Mother missed him in the jam.
Willie fell into the discard
And came home as potted ham.

Willie, on the railroad track,
Didn't hear the whistle squeal,
Now the engine's grinding back,
Scraping Willie off the wheel.

THE APEX OF THE ULTIMATE

On Monday Miss Dolores Montalvo of Butte, Mont., was granted a divorce, because she said her husband beat her every week. On Tuesday, Audrey Dolores, the ex-husband of Dolores, obtained a license to wed each other. If there's anything equal to the beautiful confident optimism of some women, we'd like to know what it is.

A savory sandwich can be made of left-over vegetables. Use any seasonable vegetable. A good combination for each individual sandwich being six left over asparagus tips, two tablespoons cooked peas, one slice peeled tomato, one half teaspoonful chopped young onion and a crisp lettuce leaf dipped in mayonnaise dressing. Use this as a filling between buttered slices of toasted graham bread, adding a slice of crisply fried or broiled bacon.

MUSINGS ON MENUS

MODERNISTIC
BY NANCY DORRIS

The fastidious housewife keeps a generous jar of a favorite salad dressing in the larder for the emergency salad or sandwiches or merely to shorten preparation of family meals.

In some homes the jar contains mayonnaise and in others boiled salad dressing. Often a small bottle of simple French dressing accompanies the richer one. While these salad aids may be bought ready-to-use, they are easily prepared in the kitchenette. Even mayonnaise, long considered a bugbear of dressings, lends itself to home preparation. The preferred oil is from the olive, but salad oils are widely favored for mayonnaise.

PERFECT MAYONNAISE

One egg yolk
One teaspoon salt
One-fourth teaspoon mustard
A dash of cayenne
One cup olive or sardine oil
One tablespoon vinegar
One tablespoon lemon juice
Yield: one large cup
The ingredients and utensils should be well chilled before undertaking mayonnaise. An hour in the ice-box renders everything right for a successful dressing.

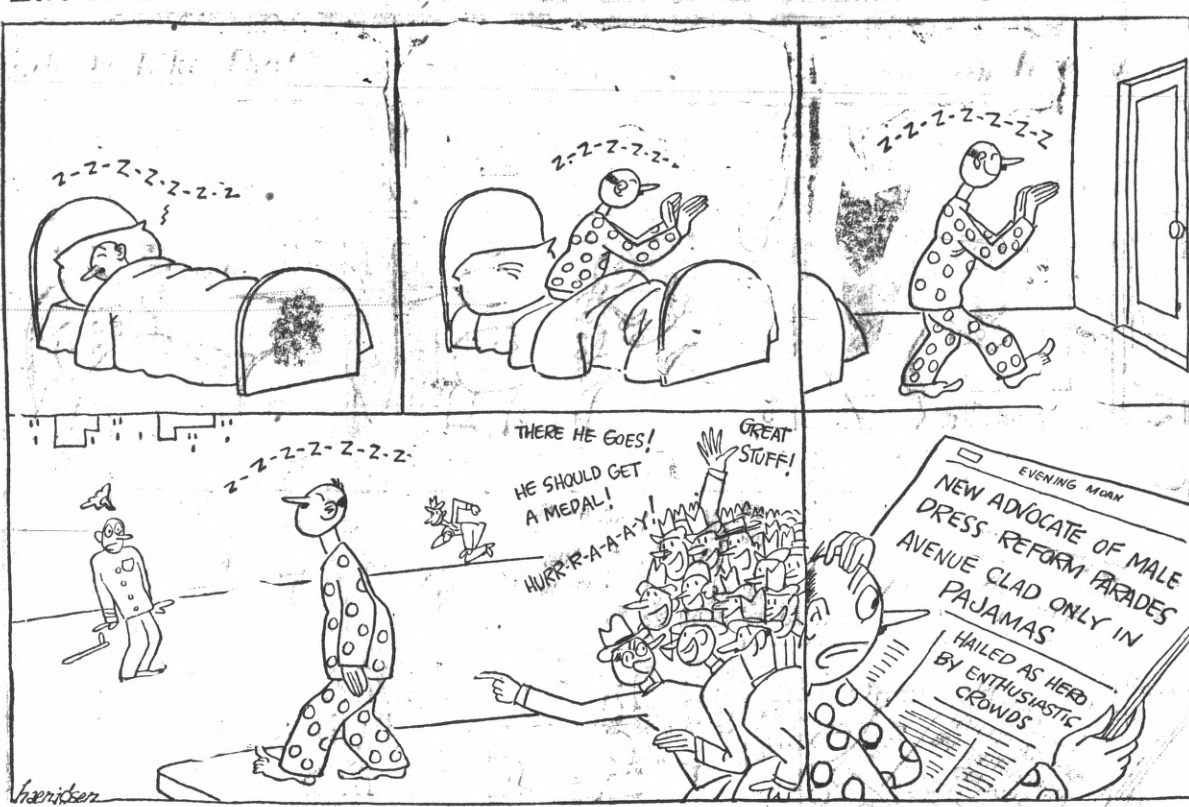

The tools and utensils to be chilled include: The rotary egg-beater, teaspoon, tablespoon, measuring cup, silver fork, medium-sized mixing bowl, any squeezing the lemon juice from the chilled lemon by hand, no squeezer will be needed.

Put the cold yolk in the chilled mixing bowl and add gradually, stirring with the fork, the dry seasonings, salt, mustard and a dash of cayenne. Beat well and add a few drops of the cold oil from the measuring cup placed at the left of the mixing bowl. Beat well, adding a little oil at a time. The mixture should begin to thicken at once as the egg receives the contributions of oil and accepts them in friendly fashion.

By this time there should be sufficient mixture in the bowl to warrant the use of the chilled egg-beater. Use it vigorously between each addition of oil. Once the beater is in action the oil may be added by the teaspoonful. When the oil is used, add the vinegar and lemon juice slowly to the egg and oil mixture, beating well. When the dressing tastes tangy it is done. Turn into a jar, cover and place in the ice-box until needed.

When the mayonnaise curdles or refuses to thicken, the ingredients and utensils were too hot or too cold, or the eggs were not fresh. The beating was irregular. The egg mixture should be stirred or beaten steadily in one direction, particularly when, incorporating the oil. The sooner the dressing is finished the better.

The Decorative Value of Accessories

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1929

IN the larger plans for decoration we are so apt to overlook the possibilities of those lesser home-furnishings which travel under the family name of "accessories." And yet, in the scheme as a whole, it is these very objects which give the room its personality and oftentimes its charm.

Rugs and draperies may be quite correct in coloring and pattern; chairs and sofas, bookshelves and tables well designed and of good proportions for the room. But just how friendly or how interesting would the room be without its pictures, its well-chosen lamps and groups of intimate objects that tell us something of the tastes of host and hostess? Only when we ask this question of ourselves do we begin to realize the tremendous importance of accessories.

Those who know me well—and who may chance to read this remark—will say with a smile, "She is riding her hobby again." But I make no apologies for it. To me the thoughtful choice and arrangement of objects of art, pottery, pictures, seems quite as necessary to successful decoration as does the wise selection of foundation furniture for the room.

I have chosen for illustration a still life group of particular charm, and ask you to think of it against a wall washed in hyacinth blue. The cover used upon the table is of silver fabric embroidered in gay wools in a design of little tulips and primroses in yellow, mauve and pink shades. The big plaque is patterned in swirls of white and clear canary yellow, the cactus bowls are also of a rich canary shade and the vases at either side are of black glass with a modern motif painted in white. They are rather important pieces from the Wiener Versteigerung, famous forerunners of the entire modern movement and renowned for their creations in silk, ceramics and glass.

The little lady "Cynthia" used for the centerpiece is a charming study in hyacinth blue running to mauve, with flowers in variegated colors sprinkled around her dress. With this color group the flowers used are all dead white, the white lilacs for the vase at the left and white narcissus with heads of yellow for the one at the right. The effect is lovely and the picture is a study in beautiful white with hyacinth blue and mauve.

Such a setting would be suitable in many places and in many rooms. Against a dark, dull wall it would make an interesting spot for the console or side table treatment; or it could be used between two windows with a clever modern painting on the wall above. The picture, however, should not be a dominant subject that would detract too much from the group.

A colorful group for the console that stands against a dull, uninteresting wall.

A lovely early primitive touch, was my favorite. Instead of buying accessories wildly toward perfection, if you will start in each room with one small spot or corner at a time, studying it constructively, building one beautiful grouping or furniture or accessories at a time, constantly studying to see what can be done to make the one spot more beautiful—very soon you can go around the entire room and make lovely the whole. plan to build carefully and slowly toward perfection. ## A Tea Time Story

WE HAD just listened to a popular lecture on the different systems of philosophy and now we were going home, enjoying the warm spring night and discussing the mental treat we had just received.

"I hate these lectures," I confessed to my friend, "and I hate all these outlines, and so on and so forth. For all they tell us is what this one said and that one thought, but no one ever explains clearly to you what is the real thing. Now, for instance, this determinism or fatalism, or whatever you call it, and this free will—what should one really believe? Is everything already decided and must things happen as they do, or can we choose ourselves and build our lives as we want to? Tell me, what do you think? Who is right?"

"Both," he said.
"But that is nonsense. It can only be the one or the other. So much I have learned from my books and this lecture."
"Well, I have learned 'from life another wisdom,' he answered. 'I am not good at abstract explanations, but if you want to I'll tell you a little story I heard ever so long ago. It will illustrate my meaning better than long discussions.'"

And after proper encouragement my friend told me the following fable which I hand on as I heard it:
"A monk who possessed the admirable art of writing illuminated manuscripts died alone, in the middle of the night, and in his cell was found a costly parchment inscribed with one single, richly ornamented letter, the letter 'P.' What had the monk intended to write when death took him? Nobody could tell. The Abbot pondered the question and he invited the rich lords and ladies of the court to come and help him find a solution. Upon a brilliant company was assembled and a young and innocent Princess was the first to speak up. "I think the good friar meant to write 'Pleasure,'" she said. "What is there sweeter than joy and pleasure? And as it is May time now, that must have been in his mind."

"No," said a proud, dark Duchess of compelling and flaming beauty. "What he meant to write was 'Passion.' Passion, which alone makes life worth living," and her eyes looked deep into the eyes of a knight standing near.

But the knight's good lady, who had deep and tragic eyes and a pale and bitter mouth, denied this. "No," she said, "he surely meant to write 'Pain.' For pleasure and passion go as quickly as the wind, and only pain remains to torture the wounded heart."
The King, however, gained this. "This 'P' should stand for 'Power,'" he said. "For even pain can be forgotten when power is attained. It is the ultimate satisfaction for every soul."
The Abbot, however, was not yet satisfied. It seemed to him that there must still be another meaning to this mysterious first letter, to this tantalizing "P." So finally he took up brush and quill himself, and while the hushed company was watching him he finished the word, and what he wrote was "Peace."

By Pierre Van Passen

Shaw As

Royalist

George Bernard Shaw was hitherto known as a Socialist, even if the Socialism is of a very faint pink variety. But his new play, which has been shown in Warsaw, capital of Poland, is a piece of straight monarchist propaganda. Mr. Shaw always took a delight in doing a little 18-pulling by making himself appear otherwise than he is. The title of the new play is "Apprentice." It is a satire, naturally on the world of statesmen and diplomats, whom he portrays as ignorant, egotists and corrupt. In contrast with that clique he brings in a King who is a wise man, unusually intelligent and very dignified. Some critics declare that Bernard Shaw, with this play, desired to give expression to a new political creed of his own. Others are of a different opinion. Mr. Shaw does not defend the idea of monarchy against democracy, but an intelligent man against an environment of good-for-nothings, thieves and plotters. If the King is finally conquered and is forced to give in, Mr. Shaw shows "Long live the King!" only out of a sense of fair play, applauding a man who put up a clean fight. In Warsaw the piece was the sensation of the town. The monarchist clans made it an occasion to parade before the theatre and in the promenade. They say the piece will be shown in Paris, and that the Prefect has no objection against its being shown, provided that final shout, "Vive le Roi!" is cut out.

Pope's Golden Rosary

In well informed circles of the Vatican City it is stated that Pius XI. will perform the ceremony of blessing the Golden Rosary for presentation to a Catholic Queen early in September. This ceremony, one of the most ancient and picturesque in the Catholic ritual, is supposed to have been instituted by St. Gregory the Great, but it is on record that as early as the time of Pope Leo IX. the monastery of the Holy Cross, in the diocese of Tulle, in return for certain privileges, was bound to the tribute of two ounces of the gold for the making of the Golden Rosary, to be blessed by the Roman Pontiff. At first it was usually presented to the Prefect of Rome in token of the esteem in which the Pope held the Eternal City; in successive centuries it became an important link in the relations between the Holy See and foreign rulers. Among the recipients of this honor, one of the greatest in the Pope's gift, have been Louis VII., Charles VI. and Charles VII. of France, the Emperor Sigismund and Louis I. of Hungary, King Henry VI. of England, Charles III. of Savoy, Catherine de Medici, Anne of Austria, the Empress Marie Therese, and Marie Gabrielle of Savoy, wife of Philip V. of Spain. Occasionally it was also bestowed on famous sanctuaries or on cities noted for their devotion to the Holy See, such as Venice, Bologna, Siena and Benevento. It is thought that Queen Helena of Italy will be the next recipient.

President's Descent

Those German "Herren" who are forever trying to claim famous or prominent men for the Teutonic race, might have erred in the case of Shakespeare and Pope Leo XIII., but they seem to have hit it off right in the case of President Hoover. It has been generally supposed that the name Hoover was an Americanized form of the frequently occurring German name Huber. The papers now bring the news that the Americanische Schweizer Zeitung has received a letter from the White House to the effect that Mr. Hoover's old country is the Canton of Berne and that his ancestors have been traced back to one Johann Heinrich Huber, a linen weaver. This possibility has already been pointed out by the Swiss-American Historical Society, since the beginning of the Eighteenth Century the Canton of Berne has systematically and officially encouraged emigration to America, and numerous families had settled in Pennsylvania, where they formed a set known as the Swiss Mennonites. The name "Huber" itself means a man who possesses a "Hub," that is, a small farm.

FROM THE WISE

"Let us not be too prodigal when we are young, nor too parsimonious when we are old, otherwise we shall fall into the common error of those who, when they had the power to enjoy, had not the prudence to acquire; and when they had the prudence to acquire, had no longer the power to enjoy." —Colton.

Immortality may seduce the young and lead them astray, and some apology may be offered for it; but it is revolting to see it conferred upon the crafty experience and cunning hypocrisy of the old, when they have lost all love of virtue and all sense of shame. —Aston.

Unlined Sports Coat Worn by Mrs. Harold Talbot Has Unusual Charm

By HELEN WORDEN
Copyright Press Publishing Co. (New York World) 1929

The light unlined flannel sports coat, which has been so much in evidence at fashionable resorts this season, is worn by Mrs. Harold Talbot in the accompanying picture.

A slight variation in detail is introduced in the soft turned-back collar that may be worn close about the throat or thrown back, showing the throat.

For accessories Mrs. Talbot has chosen interesting ones. Her striped beach bag is of the latest cut and is gay in color. The striking head kerchief is wrapped turban fashion, closely about her head, the half socks are woven of the softest wool and lisle, and the customary four-eyel tenn's oxfords are of white buckskin, carefully tanned.

Mrs. Talbot is an ardent tennis player. She is equally proficient at golf. During the recent mixed foursome golf tournament held at Newport Country club, Mrs. Talbot scored 54 with Bertram Der Cruger, holding second place in the match.

BEAUTY RUNS RAMPANT IN FILM

Musical comedy through the world can have its daring dancers and soothing syncope, but it is doubtful if any show has ever produced a more glorious galaxy of beautiful chorus girls than are to be seen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking, singing and dancing picture, "The Broadway Melody," now playing at the Fox-California theater.

A bevy of 60 beautiful stars weaving to and fro to the rhythmic strains of specially written musical numbers will be seen and heard in one sequence, photographed in Technicolor, while the revue proper displays a croupe of specialty dancers who display for the first time the "Tampa Step," created by the well-known George Cunningham, originator of "off-beat" rhythm in stage dancing.

Anita Page and Bessie Love appear as sisters in a cleverly composed "sister act," which is a complete flop when given a tryout at a rehearsal. Charles King, celebrated Broadway baritone and musical comedy star, is seen in the male lead as a small town song-and-dance man, who eventually falls in love with the younger sister.

Miss Love, as the elder sister, is forced to content herself with pairing up with a former antagonist from the chorus, in order to carry on with the act. The entire production is interspersed with novelty musical numbers, one of the musical highlights coming from the true conception of a popular song publisher's office.

Harry Beaumont, responsible for the direction of "Our Dancing Daughters" and other recent screen triumphs, directed the picture. The cast, a notable one, includes, besides the three principals, Mary Dorman, Kenneth Thomson, Eddie Kane and others.

291st Hour Of Dance Passed

The two hundred and ninety first hour was passed at midnight by the seven couples still dancing in Joe Rossi's marathon in the El Cerrito Athletic club. According to Rossi, this breaks all state records for that number of couples.

As a special entertainment for the Saturday night crowd, Rossi will stage the "Shooting of Dan McGrew" with professional entertainers reinforcing the dancers. He plans to make the event a real "fun night."

A national motion picture news weekly will take pictures of the dancers Sunday afternoon. These films will be shown in theaters throughout the world.

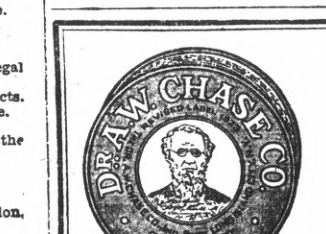

Rossi stated last night that all the couples appeared in excellent condition and that it would probably be some time next week before any of them withdrew from the contest.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERED THE WORLD'S GREATEST OPPORTUNITY -- FOR YOU!

America -- Greatest Land In The World

More than four centuries ago when the galleons of Columbus nosed their way to a new hemisphere, he expected to unfold greater treasure than his day knew.

He found this continent and thereby opened up the colonization of our forefathers, a land today the greatest in the world. Little did he appreciate the ultimate outcome of his discovery—beyond his wildest flights of imagination was the thought that here in his new found land there would rise the world's GREATEST NATION—THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY.

But no man could foresee such. VISION, thought, and foresight develop, and from a land of wilderness has come this wonderful country. Foresight today, just as in the past, is to be rewarded.

Now vision RICHMOND OF THE FUTURE.

To begin with we are blessed with our geographical position. We have land, water and railroads. A wonderful climate, cool breezes from the Pacific cool the hottest days and modify the nights.

Now add to this the impetus of a vastly increased industrial district which will undoubtedly keep growing.

DOESN'T RICHMOND'S FUTURE LOOK BRIGHT TO YOU?

Bear in mind that there are a number of large manufacturing firms watching RICHMOND'S growth. There is a possibility, a strong possibility, of a number of them coming here. Just try to realize the great things the future holds for our city.

No city in California has the manufacturing advantages Richmond has to offer. No city in California is growing as fast in this respect.

There is already more than THIRTY-TWO MILLIONS OF DOLLARS INVESTED HERE IN INDUSTRIES, and that's only a start; we need more and we are going to get more. Remember also, that RICHMOND NOW HAS THE FOURTH PAYROLL in California. Just imagine what that means—over a million dollars paid to our workers every month.

Do you realize, if you are a property owner, how much your property will advance in value? Can you realize the demand there will be for your holdings if you care to sell. Lots on Macdonald avenue could be bought for a song not many years ago, and you did not need to be a good singer either. Try to buy one now and see how far a thousands dollars will go.

Columbus discovered this country—it is up to you to discover the wonderful opportunities RICHMOND has to offer you right NOW. Ten years from now you will wish that you had heeded this information if you do not do it now! RICHMOND has more than twice the opportunity to advance than any other city of the same size in the entire state.

And REMEMBER CALIFORNIA is not a small state.

JUST KEEP BOOSTING, RICHMOND WILL GIVE YOU LOTS TO BOOST ABOUT.

NEW COACH AID FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Richmond football fans are waiting the opening of the season this fall—waiting to see what type of a football team, Coach Ivan W. Hill will send out to represent the Richmond Union high school.

Hill will lose and gain a valuable assistant this year. Eddie Cain, who had been acting as assistant coach last year has resigned and is continuing his study of law. He will take his bar examination this fall.

Phillip Hempler has been named to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Cain.

In Hempler, Hill has made a valuable acquisition to his staff. Hempler is a graduate of the University of California and is a letter man in track. He also played on the California football team last year, and has gained valuable experience that will be used in coaching the local squad.

At the present time Hill is attending the Chico State Teacher college summer session now being held at Shasta City. He will return Sunday.

The new bleachers at the local football field have been painted and seating arrangements have been made to take care of 2000 persons.

4 Net Players Expected To Enter Tourney

Four Richmond tennis players are expected to enter the forthcoming Berkeley city tournament for men and boys.

Darrow Sutton and Warren Brown, who took part in the Pacific coast tourney, will participate in the junior games, while F. T. McKnight and M. Duncan will play in the men's events.

Interclass Football May Be Abandoned

BERKELEY, Aug. 7.—Interclass games have normally been curtain-raisers to football season, and interests in them has been slight.

Spring practice, it is pointed out, will allow an adequate training period, with the interclass series for a climax. The change will also minimize pre-season wear on the stadium turf, it is argued.

U. C. GRIDIRON READY FOR SEASON

BERKELEY, Aug. 7.—Blanketed with a firm crop of turf that has been growing since last November, the stadium playing field at the University of California will be in the best of condition for the 1929 football season.

And it will be kept that way, according to W. M. Monahan, general manager of the Associated Students of the University. Varsity workouts will be held on the new southwest practice field. Training quarters in one of the several suitable buildings near the field are to be arranged for, Monahan said. The Bear freshmen will also use the field occasionally. Turf there is in excellent condition, he declared.

With much of the wear and tear of scrimmage shifted to other fields, the stadium will see service only on Fridays, for practice, and for the Saturday games. Training quarters in the stadium will be used only on game days and the training table will be set up in Stephens Union.

ZEPPELIN HOPS ON WORLD FLIGHT

Blaze New Yorkers ran from work in all night offices or to windows as light sleepers were awakened. In the White Light district, Broadwayites joined sightseers in peering up at the ship.

The Zeppelin finally disappeared into the distance, scheduled to fly up the coast and follow the northern "great circle" course that Lindbergh took to Paris.

The ship was about 800 feet high when it passed over the village of Lakehurst, where countless thousands have come through out the week for one glimpse of the mighty airliner.

As it sailed on, searchlights picked it out of the dark blue midnight sky and held it until it passed from view.

Over Atlantic
Flying rapidly, the great silver hulk faded in a few minutes to a small silver speck disappearing into the northern horizon, and soon was lost to the crowd entirely. The five great motors still could be heard droning in the distance for a time however.

In the control cabin forward and just under the zeppelin's blunt nose Dr. Hugo Eckener, master mariner of the air, stood by his wheels and levers.

The great motors roared thanks to the navy. The final boom of good weather forecast were extended the Gratz just before she sailed.

Fair Weather
The forecast is for generally fair weather off the coast from New York to the Grand Banks Thursday, the station areological office announced. Indications are that conditions over the Atlantic are average, to better than average. Winds will be southerly just east of the Grand Banks; southwesterly in mid-Atlantic and northwesterly as the ship approaches Europe.

When next the famous dirigible visits Lakehurst, it will have traveled 23,000 miles over a trail which crosses three continents and holds more than one peril for those who have entrusted their safety to the 61 year old commander.

Toothache Saves Store From Yeggs

CLEBURNE, Tex.—Raymond Garza saved his grocery store from being robbed by having a toothache. Garza, who lives over the store, got up to doctor his pain. Turning on the light, he heard a car drive away. The next morning he discovered a plate glass window had been removed by robbers but they had evidently been frightened by Garza's arousal. Nothing was missing.

OAKS DEFEAT RICHMOND 'OLD TIMERS' TO PLAY BALL

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—UP—Pounding out seven of their 13 hits in one inning, the sixth, San Francisco Seals scored six runs in that frame to beat the Missions in the Pacific Coast league today and regained first place, two games ahead of Los Angeles and Hollywood, who were tied for third position.

The Missions dropped to second place, equidistant between the Seals and the two teams in a tie for third.

They had piled up a four run lead when the Seals started the sixth inning with three singles and made five runs before a single out had been accomplished. The final score was 7 to 4.

Another tight game was played between Hollywood and Los Angeles but the Angels again broke a tie, this time scoring once in the sixth inning, and beat the Seals, 3 to 2. Roberts was on the mound for Los Angeles and allowed only five hits.

The best pitching performance of the day, however, was by Dumovich of Oakland who held Seattle to four hits so that the Oaks might win, 7 to 0.

Sacramento tied Portland with four runs in the seventh but the Beavers made one in the ninth to win, 6 to 5.

Man Sought In Death Of Prohi Agent

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—UP—Frederick, city and county authorities renewed their search for John M. Heath, elevator engineer, when the report of a doctor's autopsy stated today that Richard J. Sandlands, government prohibition agent, had died of a broken neck. Sandlands' body was recovered earlier today from the Detroit river into which he had been thrown or fell after a scuffle with Heath aboard the latter's yacht, Maxine.

Heath's version of the trouble aboard the yacht, given through his attorney, Max Finkelstein, described a fight which followed the prohibition agent's attempt to seize the boat without having his authority. Heath has not been seen since early Saturday, a few hours after the fight with Sandlands. Finkelstein said he would surrender Heath to police as soon as he could locate him.

In Heath's story, told to police by the attorney, he said he feared Sandlands was a hijacker. When both men fell into the water Heath said he swam back to his yacht and left the scene.

The body was found about two miles from the spot where Heath said he and Sandlands fought. Heath's wife, Maxine, who was said to have been asleep aboard the yacht when Sandlands boarded the boat, told Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs, that she did not know her husband's whereabouts.

Major league stars of other years, who make their homes in Richmond, will participate in the third annual reunion and baseball game to be held at the Oakland ball park Saturday afternoon, at 1:30. The game will be played prior to the Oakland and Seattle game.

Brick Deveraux, Artie Schumppf, Chick Autrey, Frank Schulte and Skipper Roberts, all from Richmond, and familiar figures in the old Standard Oil Twilight league, will be among those present. These five are old timers in major league baseball.

Some of the famous stars of long ago will take part in the game and will show the fans today how ball was played in the "good old days."

More than 300 "old timers" are expected to be on hand for the content.

FOSTER FATHER WINS CUSTODY OF CHILD

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—UP—By decision of the district court of appeals here today Betty Nadine Marshall, age 9, was placed in custody of her foster father, Frank Marshall and eight months of court procedure for possession of the child were ended.

Following adoption of the child in Kansas in 1926 Marshall and his wife, Evelyn and the little girl moved to Martinez, Cal., where a divorce was granted the couple. Marshall was given custody of the baby.

Later in Casa Grande, Ariz., the woman instituted habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of Betty Nadine. Failing in this, she kidnapped the little girl and came to San Mateo, Calif., where she married Donald Harman.

Marshall attempted to have the child returned to him through action of the San Mateo Superior court, but was unsuccessful.

Action of the appellate court here today returned Betty Nadine to the care of her foster father.

Richmond, Cal. June 30, 1928.

For years I had terrible pains in my right side. I also had liver and gall bladder trouble, which caused the pain to run clear around my back. All the healers whom I consulted said that I could not be helped unless an operation was performed. I have added satisfaction of knowing that it is also permanent for a year has elapsed and I am still free from pain and feel splendid.

500 Convicts At San Quentin Stricken Ill

SAN QUENTIN STATE PRISON, Aug. 7.—UP—Nearly 500 prisoners were afflicted here tonight with a disease which was described by Dr. W. H. Kellogg of the State Board of Health as similar to typhoid fever but in a much milder form.

Kellogg said the ailment was known to the medical profession as "bacillary dysentery" and was not likely to be fatal in any case. Warden James B. Holohan said a similar outbreak occurs every year about this time, but it is more extensive this year than usual.

First symptoms of the epidemic were noted four days ago. Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, said he said as long as every victim remained quiet there was little danger of disastrous results.

The hospital of the penitentiary was full and a new building was filled with cots to care for others. Recovery of all the invalids within three days was expected.

A roll call of all convicts Tuesday disclosed 480 were suffering and several new cases were reported today.

Napa County Farm Fair To Open Aug. 15

This year's historical pageant, "The Old Mill" by Carrie Tessin Baade, will be given an elaborate staging at the East Napa pavilion with an augmented orchestra and a cast of 100. The Queen's grand ball will close the three-day event with a fireworks display at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 18.

Community M. E. In Plans For New Building

A resolution thanking the RECORD-HERALD for its cooperation with the church, was adopted by the meeting. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the church conference which will be held in Modesto soon.

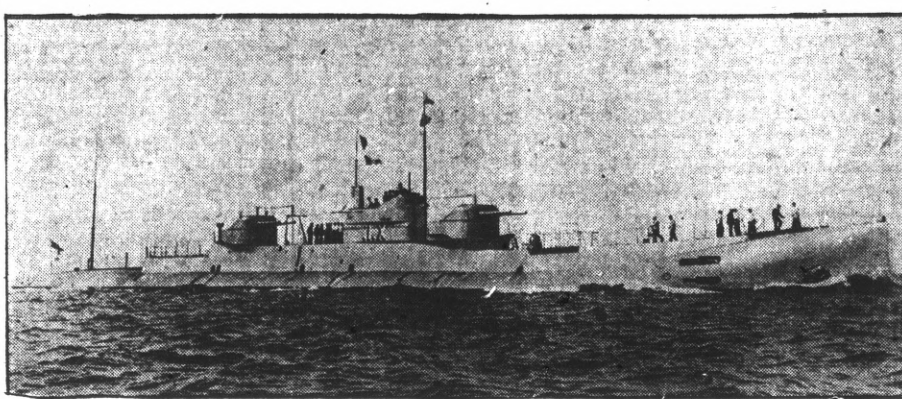

Heads of the Sunday School, missionary societies, Epworth League and others reported that the year's work was the largest ever accomplished by the church. Rev. W. J. Sims was in charge of the session.

DEATH TAKES SOCIALIST LEADER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 7.—UP—Victor L. Berger, national chairman of the Socialist party, former congressman, a journalist and known throughout the world as a leader in the Socialistic cause, died today of a fractured skull and complications resulting from a street car accident three weeks ago.

Berger, the leader, the fighter, whose open championing of the cause of Socialism and denunciation of capitalism during the World War caused his indictment and sentence to 20 years in federal prison for conspiracy to violate the espionage laws, fought as valiantly until the last against death.

Tall and large of stature, a physique that aided him in his battles during his life, Berger amazed attending physicians by his vitality to fight against the injuries that would have brought death soon to younger men. Berger was 69 years old.

The street car accident happened when he was walking home from his editorial office at the Milwaukee Leader, a Socialist paper, of which he had been editor since its origin in 1911.

Earlier in the week, attending physicians believed he was nearly out of danger and his recovery was predicted. A relapse occurred yesterday and a restless night followed.

At 5 a. m. today he lapsed into a coma, from which he did not recover. He died at 1:15 p. m.

Wife at Bedside

At Berger's bedside when he died were his wife and his two daughters, as well as business associates.

Berger, a native of Austria-Hungary, who during his troubles following America's entrance into the war, described himself "the most indicted man in America," retained until his death the soft, rich voice and kindly disposition within his courageous self that made him many friends.

He showed his real mettle in the crisis of the troublesome war days when he fought unwaveringly for his beliefs; he remained unflinching in his expressions after Congress had denied his seat and finally won a reversal of the prison sentence.

More than 8000 persons are expected to attend the celebration, which will be without parallel in the history of the city.

Following the session of the association yesterday morning, Charles Courtwright served a picnic luncheon.

Fred Parr, head of the Parr-Richmond Terminal company, then took the visitors on a tour of inspection of the new wharf units.

Committees Named

Committees appointed by the association and the city and the Chamber of Commerce in the celebration included the following: Space Committee—Roy K. Dorr and David M. Rose.

Publicity—Harry S. Curry and Charles Courtwright.

Tickets and Supper—Bob Miller, Lawrence Kratzer and Frank Schumate.

Music and Program—Adam Westgerber, L. J. Thomas and L. C. Mitchell.

Reception Committee—J. P. Strom, assisted by members of the association.

Dance and Decorations—Lud Johnson, C. Harrison and Wendell LaFranz.

Among those present at the meeting were Strom, Curry, Miller, Westgerber, Harrison, Dorr, Rose, Courtwright, Mitchell, Johnson, LaFranz, Kratzer, Clayton Draper, R. M. Simpson, Parr and Sanford.

No Snakes In New Zealand Kiwanis Told

Although St. Patrick is not the patron saint of New Zealand, there are no snakes there, according to Wilbur S. Tupper, of the Union Steamship company of New Zealand who spoke before the Richmond Kiwanis club yesterday.

Tupper pictured New Zealand as a place where the people are more English than in Great Britain.

He declared that with the government in control of railroads, telephone and telegraph lines, there is a minimum of political friction.

More than 90 percent of New Zealand's exports to foreign countries come under the heading of butter, eggs, hides and frozen muttons—products of the grazing grounds.

Tupper declared that there are no traces of previous animal life in New Zealand and there are no snakes.

Audra Wilson, Vivian Vaughn and Madeline Whittlesey of Richmond, entertained the club with musical selections. Joseph Hirth was chairman of the day.

U.S.-DENMARK HOP PLANNED

Accounting Asked In Local Nursery

MARTINEZ, Aug. 7.—Sue against Mr. Wayne Neilsen, asking for an accounting in their partnership in the Bay Nursery at Richmond was filed here today by James W. Robinson of Richmond.
